OVERVIEW

Patrice K. Morris is a paralegal in the Litigation Group with more than 15 years of experience in the legal field.

Prior to joining Hackett Feinberg, Patrice worked for a mid-size Boston law firm for several years, focusing primarily in the areas of product liability, medical device liability, general liability, and commercial matters. While at that firm, her role evolved into a hybrid position in which she also managed many aspects of the firm's website and engaged in and oversaw multiple marketing events. Her previous experience includes roles such as an administrative office clerk for a criminal defense organization, an executive assistant in the intellectual property department at a major local company, and a paralegal/office manager for a law firm specializing in plaintiff-related disputes.

Patrice volunteers within the legal arena with a Boston-based association that focuses on teaching various aspects of the criminal justice system to middle and high school students.
