OVERVIEW

Richard E. Gentilli concentrated his practice in the area of civil litigation. His experience ranged from representation of creditors, secured lenders and equipment lessors in a variety of commercial matters, to more general business tort and contract disputes for the firm's corporate clients.

Richard regularly handled lender liability defense cases for our banking clients relating to both commercial and consumer loans.

Richard was an experienced trial and appellate lawyer, who prided himself in his courtroom abilities, as well as in his care in advising clients as to the costs and benefits of pursuing any particular course in litigation. Richard regularly tried both jury and non-jury cases in the Massachusetts Superior and U. S. District Courts, and occasionally cases in other states.

Richard resides in the town of Canton, Massachusetts with his wife.
